

Gale Virtual Reference Library

<http://elibraryusa.state.gov/databases/Gale%20Virtual%20Reference%20Library>

Gale Virtual Reference Library contains a section on the left column of the home page with a list of Subjects. Although the list does not contain an individual subject for foreign affairs, it does have several options including Nation and World, Law and History that would be very useful to access information on foreign affairs. Also, you can use the search bar at the top of the page to search “Foreign Affairs” for more information on the topic.

Academic OneFile

<http://elibraryusa.state.gov/databases/Academic%20OneFile>

Academic OneFile has over 270 resources related to foreign affairs research. These periodicals can be used to give a background into issues related to foreign affairs

One way to find these resources is to select the Subject tab and type “Foreign Affairs” (including the quotation marks) in the search box. The results will list Academic Journals, and you can find results for Magazines, Books, and News items as well. You can also search within results to find more on a specific topic, such as Foreign Affairs.

You can also look for journals that cover law by clicking on Publication Search, then List All Publications. Under Limit Search by: Publication Subject, click More to find the subject of foreign affairs.

CQ Researcher

<http://elibraryusa.state.gov/databases/CQ%20Researcher%20Online>

CQ Researcher writes reports about important foreign affairs topics such as policy and international relations. Click on Browse Topics, then select International Relations to review all of the reports that CQ Researcher has published. Other topics that might also be useful are Defense and National Security, Government Function, International Trade and Development and War and Conflict.

ebrary

http://elibraryusa.state.gov/databases/ebrary%20\(includes%20e-Libro%20and%20e-Livro\))

ebrary has a number of full-text books on foreign affairs topics. Type “foreign affairs” into the search box, then press Search. You can then narrow your results by a number of subjects, such as International Relations. ebrary includes titles in Spanish and Portuguese as well.

For help downloading ebooks from ebrary, please read “How to Use ebrary”:

http://elibraryusa.state.gov/pdf/ebrary_guide.pdf

Current Affairs for Embassies

Type “foreign affairs” into the search box on the home page. You can also limit your search by selecting the downward arrow next to the words Subject or Category on the left side of the screen. You can then choose the subject or category you are interested in. This will provide you further information on that topic.

IIP Digital

On the home screen you can type “foreign affairs” into the search box or a more specific search such as “relations between the US and Canada”. Or you can select Topics under the search bar. From here you have many different options to choose from that pertain to the field of foreign affairs.

eJournal USA

Type “foreign service” into the search bar on the top right corner of the home page. You can then narrow your search results by selecting the content type, topics, geography, organizations and people on the left column of the page.

Global Issues in Context

Select Browse Issues and Topics on the home page. From there select Conflict and Diplomacy or Government, Politics and Law.